Yorkville MLP Core Income Strategy Named a “Top Gun” by PSN Informa

NEW YORK, (March 28, 2012) – Yorkville Capital Management LLC, a leader in Master Limited Partnership (MLP) investment strategies and research, announces its MLP Core Income Strategy has been named a “Top Gun” by Informa Investment Solutions’ PSN separate Account manager performance ranking for the fourth quarter of 2011. The MLP strategy has also been credited for top performance over the same period from Barron’s and Morningstar.

This attention on the category leading performance of Yorkville’s dedicated MLP income investment strategy comes as the portfolio managers and investors celebrate its 10th anniversary. The strategy has delivered gross annual returns of 13.2 percent since its inception, as compared with 2.8 percent for the S&P 500 over the same period.

Jim Hug, lead manager of Yorkville’s MLP Core Income Strategy, has himself received recognition and awards for investment performance resulting from his MLP research and analysis beginning in the early 1990s.

“The attention from PSN, Barron’s and Morningstar serves as a reminder of the impact that research and focused investment management discipline has on an income-oriented portfolio,” says Darren Schuringa, founder of Yorkville. “It also reinforces how knowledge gained through experience can improve investment returns.”

Yorkville’s MLP Core Income Strategy is designed to meet the needs of investors looking for a high-income vehicle that offers significant income growth and capital appreciation potential. The strategy invests primarily in MLPs that produce high current income, much of it tax-deferred, and that have the potential to increase their distributions over time. The net result is a tax advantaged income stream that is naturally hedged against inflation.
